Friday, 28 June 2019

A question often posed is, “where and when can I use the statistical methods I have been taught?”. This presentation will attempt to provide an answer to this question by discussing statistical techniques and methodologies that have been used for consulting, research and general interest purposes. In particular, the presentation will discuss topics of interest to those who enjoy sports statistics, and general applications from simple linear regression models to resampling methods for boundary estimation problems.
